TWO DIE AT ALLY PALLY NIGHT SPOT

Clubbers taking drugs urged to seek medical help as a third man remains ill in hospital

TWO men have died and another is being treated in hospital after attending two club nights at Alexandra Palace.

Police are still trying to establish a cause of death but have urged revellers who may have taken drugs, especially ecstasy, during the weekend to get medical attention.

The two men were admitted to hospital in the early hours of Sunday morning. A 21-year-old man was pronounced dead at 12.30am and at 7.30am a 20-year-old died.

A third man, aged 20, remains in hospital in a serious but stable condition.

It is believed the 21-year-old attended an all-night event on Friday into Saturday, and the other two men attended a separate event on Saturday night.

Police are investigating whether the men may have taken drugs, possibly MDMA, known as ecstasy.

Detective Inspector Rita Tierney said: "If you have taken what you believed to be MDMA, or any other substance, during this weekend's events at Alexandra Palace, and are now feeling unwell, I would strongly urge you to attend your nearest hospital as soon as possible."

Alexandra Palace and Lock 'N' Load Events, which hosted Friday night's event, issued a joint statement saying they were "deeply shocked". It said: "Our deepest sympathy goes out to the family and friends of the men who passed away. All those involved in the event extend their condolences to those who have suffered a loss."

"Both the organisers and venue have a zero tolerance to drugs and employ security teams to enforce all measures possible to protect visitors. The authorities are being fully assisted in their investigations."

If you attended this weekend's events at Alexandra Palace or have any information that could assist the investigation, please call 020 8345 0737.

Chaos predicted as public sector workers walk out

By Jamie Rose

HARINGEY TUC Secretary Keith Flett has warned that public sector strikes could bring "absolute chaos" to the area and that people should expect renewed action in the New Year unless government and workers reach an agreement on pensions.

The TUC is co-ordinating today's strike and Mr Flett does not foresee any backing down as negotiations hinge on a matter of thousands of pounds for each of the two million workers involved nationwide.

Speaking to the Advertiser before the walkout, he said: "There's significant support out there for the cause. This isn't about the odd pay rise by half a per cent, this is about a lot of money and workers being told at short notice that conditions have changed and they'll now have to work well into old age."

Rallies have been organised at public venues including Haringey Civic Centre, the College Of North-East London and both North Middlesex University and St Ann's hospitals.

With almost 20 public sector unions now confirming that their members have voted in favour of striking it is expected most of the borough's schools will be closed. Haringey Council has written to all schools with guidance on managing the impact of the strike and will be publishing regularly updated information on its website.

"People might complain about disruption and losing money from the strike day," said Mr Flett. "But frankly losing a few days wages is neither here nor there compared to the lives that could be affected here."

Fight goes on to stay at community centre

Battling on: Chairman Paul Leslie (second right) with other members at the Welbourne Centre in Tottenham

By Anna Dubuis

CAMPAIGNERS fighting to save the Welbourne Centre, in Tottenham, from closure met last week to discuss its fate.

The Caribbean Senior Citizens' Association hires the premises from Haringey Council and is being forced to leave after failing to pay rent for a year. The association owes more than £20,000 in arrears and court costs.

The centre has been a base for CSCA's 150 members for more than 20 years, holding events including keep-fit classes, youth groups and discussion groups.

Paul Leslie, CSCA chairman, said: "Without the centre, old people will have to stay at home and young people will be out on the streets. Community spaces like this provide the platform to allow people to come together."

Having created a new management team for the centre, Mr Leslie admitted that its predecessors had failed following the death of the person responsible for paying the bills.

In September, a judge granted the council possession of the centre and payment of the rent arrears. The CSCA applied for a suspension of that decision and a hearing is scheduled for next March.

A council spokesman said: "We have tried very hard to reach out and support the CSCA with its finance and other problems, but our concerns about its capacity to clear its debt and get the building in proper working order continued to grow.

"Under these circumstances, we had no option than to seek possession to get the building back and secure its longer term use. We will continue to try to support the CSCA to help them to find alternative accommodation."

Douglas Williams, chairman of the Tottenham Concerned Residents' Committee, is supporting the CSCA as well as other community centres in the area.

He said: "We need to occupy the building. We need a united front. Our community centres are all under serious threat."

In brief

Cuts come into force

CUTS continue to hit the police as the Met introduces plans to reduce the numbers of staff in Safer Neighbourhood teams.

Haringey police said the changes coming into operation this week – following a review and debate at the Metropolitan Police Authority – include increased shared supervision and the loss of five sergeants.

Haringey commander Detective Chief Superintendent Sandra Looby said: "Our safer neighbourhood teams will continue to do the things they have always done."

"The changes mean that our teams will be able to deliver greater flexibility to address priorities, reduce unnecessary costs and ensure resources are used more efficiently to better meet the demands of locals."

The wards that will now share supervision are Fortis Green and Alexandra, Bounds Green and Woodside, Hornsey and Stroud Green, Highgate and Crouch End and St Ann's and Seven Sisters.

The Met say some wards have been much busier than others since the safer neighbourhoods scheme was started in 2006 and officers have said they have the capacity to supervise more than one team.

MP's book digs deeper into causes of rioting

By Patrick Bodenham

HE WAS an outspoken voice before and during the riots that shook Tottenham to its core last August. Now all eyes are once again on David Lammy for the release of his new book, Out Of The Ashes: Britain After The Riots, in which the MP for Tottenham revisits some of the areas worst hit by the rioting.

"Tottenham's reputation has been dragged through the mud," said Mr Lammy, who grew up close to Broadwater Farm and watched on television as a child when his neighbourhood went up in flames during the 1985 riots.

"I want to set the record straight," said the Labour MP. "I know what it is like to grow up here. A lot of nonsense has been written about the rioting and a lot of unfair things have been said."

The boom decades when England found its freedom – the social freedom of the 1960s and free-market, economic freedom of the 1980s – made England a wealthier and more tolerant nation – but at a cost, says Mr Lammy.

"A lot of people are freer but there are huge downsides to this change," he said. Drawing on his experience growing up in Tottenham and subsequently becoming a politician, Mr Lammy highlights a greed and selfishness that runs right through society, personified by the banking industry.

When David Cameron decried the rioting as "sick" Mr Lammy was quick to attack the simplicity of blaming the riots just on immorality, or the "feral" youth.

"I don't agree with the phrase 'feral'," he said. "That doesn't help anything. There were 20,000 young people in Haringey who didn't leave their homes that night."

Nevertheless, he says that the lack of a father figure in the lives of many of these young people leads them towards gangs.

He also says the sense of powerlessness felt when betting shops open and despair as local football clubs close combine to create a culture where one person doesn't care about the next.

"It's not just about having more police on the streets, it's also about selfishness and greed," he added. "We cannot live in a society in which the banks are too big to fail, yet whole communities are allowed to sink without trace. Now is the time to start changing things."

Couple still shelling out for flat destroyed by fire

By Anna Dubuis

A COUPLE whose home was razed to the ground during the riots are still having to pay the mortgage and service charges on their flat.

Mehmet Akbasak, 31, and his wife Burcin, 29, owned Flat 2 River Heights, above the Carpetright store in Tottenham reduced to rubble after rioters set the building ablaze in August.

Mr Akbasak said: "We have been told the flats will be rebuilt within the next two to three years. We have no flat and yet we must pay the mortgage and even the service charges on the building."

The couple have been living in rented accommodation in Crouch End for two months, paid for by their insurance company, after spending one month in a hotel.

They lost all their belongings in the fire and have furnished their new flat through donations from family and friends.

"We lost it all – souvenirs, photographs, clothes, everything," he said.

One of Mr Akbasak's greatest losses was his camera equipment. He is a freelance photographer and graphic designer and has been unable to work.

Mr Akbasak was in his flat on the night the rioters torched the building, while his wife was in Turkey visiting family.

"I heard shouting and could see smoke," he said. "I got out of bed, got dressed and looked out of the door to see people in masks carrying baseball bats."

"I didn't know whether to go

ANNE-MARIE SANDERSON

Trying to rebuild their lives: Mehmet and Burcin Akbasak outside where these people were, who could attack me, or to stay in my flat – but I somehow got outside."

In the morning, he had to call his wife and let her know their home had been destroyed.

"Saving up for a mortgage and getting the flat was the biggest achievement of our lives," he said.

The couple are still unable to work and spend most of their days in meetings and on the phone trying to sort out their housing situation. They are frustrated because they cannot live in the flat they own and long for the situation to be resolved.

"We will keep fighting it," Mr Akbasak added. "We are lucky to be alive. My perspective on life has changed – I wanted to be a pilot as a child, maybe I will try that now."

Artists cut the cost of Christmas cheer

Christmas craft: Anita Mangan, Matilda Harrison, Sonja Bucherer and Brigitte Herrod

By Jamie Rose

AN AFFORDABLE art fair for Christmas is being held in Fortis Green featuring work on sale for as little as £7.

The Guys And Dolls exhibition opens on Sunday at The Emporium Tea Rooms, in Cheapside.

It is the seventh affordable exhibition by the On The Wall Collective of professional arts and craftmakers from the area, with the specific aim of helping people stick to festive budgets.

"Normally at exhibitions we charge a flat rate of £70 for most of our pieces," said one of the artists, Anita Mangan. "But this time we wanted to offer things for less so there are handmade dolls and decorations going for as little as £7."

"They're all original and carefully crafted, and ridiculously cheap for the amount of time spent putting them together. They're a steal!"

The artists met through acquaintances and have become good friends, each with their own speciality. "This isn't about making money," added Anita. "Even though some of our previous shows have proved popular and had a lot of sales, this one is about making it very affordable for Christmas. It's very much a labour of love."

The exhibition will form part of a festive shopping day at the Emporium Tea Rooms.

The centre's manager, Wendy Meteyard, said: "The Tea Rooms have become part of a new social enterprise. Previously the shops have had empty shelves and the centre hasn't been busy, but everything's well stocked now with lots of cheap and cheerful gifts from handmade jewellery to tea cosies. Mulled wine and mince pies will also be available."

The 20-strong choir will be led by Simon Gilbert, a former West End leading man and vocal coach with 30 years' experience.

He said: "There will be opportunities for the audience to join in, especially the Christmas songs that close the show."

Cyclists on track for new venture

By Jamie Rose

A NEW mountain bike and BMX track has been completed in Tottenham and the first dirt will be spread at its official launch on Saturday.

The Lordship Loop is a 391-metre trail pump track created by the Trax mountain bike and BMX club at the Lordship Recreation Grounds, in Lordship Lane.

It will be available for keen riders and novices alike and is suitable for staging both forms of cycling.

The launch day will feature professional demonstrations, games, coaching activities, community cycle stalls, face painting, a lucky dip and a smoothie-making bike and many of the proceeds from the day will go back into the club for maintenance of the new project.

"This much-anticipated launch brings a much-needed, community-run facility for youths in Tottenham," said Daniel Mintz, chairman of Trax. "The whole bike world and local community are coming together to make this a sustainable venture."

"The launch heralds a new era of off-road biking as it is brought to a new generation of riders in an urban setting. We welcome all to come and celebrate this historic day."

The track is made from recycled earth from the park and contains various features of competitive riding courses with rollers, berms, roller doubles, step-up jumps and a quarterly racing league – and coaching will be available for beginners to the emerging sport.

The project is managed by Haringey Council and is part of a broader objective to regenerate the park. It will be overseen by members of the Lordship Rec Users' Forum, made up of different park user groups, and received additional funding from its new affiliations with cycle shops, the Bike Club organisation and the International Mountain Biking Association.

Frances Chaloner, the Bike Club officer for London, said: "I was delighted to support the bid for one of our grants, funded by Asda's Pedal Power campaign."

"The initiative will bring lots of new people to cycling, improving their health, education and sense of community in a very safe environment which will appeal to their parents."

Woodside High School is committed to safeguarding and promoting the welfare of children and young people and expects all staff and volunteers to share this commitment.

Internal Exclusion Unit Supervisor required for Outstanding School

Woodside High school has undergone a rapid period of change since 2006 and we were recently rated as 'outstanding' by Ofsted in February 2011. "Many students describe the school as an 'oasis' where they feel valued and encouraged to achieve their potential because of the stability the school provides." (Ofsted, Feb 2011).

As an outstanding secondary school located in Haringey, Woodside High School is looking to appoint an IEU Supervisor as soon as possible to join our highly successful inclusion team. The exceptional candidate will manage and support the reintegration of students who are admitted to the Internal Exclusion Room. This is a highly valued and responsible position requiring a team player who has high expectations of the students, works well under pressure and is resilient.

The successful candidate will be employed on a permanent contract, working 36 hours per week, term time only. The full time salary for this position is Scale 4 point 21 (£20,877) but as this position is for term time only, the salary received will be pro rata. For further information and an application pack please go to our website: www.woodsidehighschool.co.uk or contact Miss Clare Seibert (PA to the Principal) on 020 8829 2528 or email mail@woodsidehighschool.co.uk.

Closing date is Monday 5th December 2011.

DEFOE HAILS SPURS SQUAD

By Dominique Stafford

JERMAIN DEFOE is adamant that the current Tottenham Hotspur squad is the strongest there has been during his time at the club.

Defoe took full advantage of being given a rare league start to score the crucial second goal in Saturday's 3-1 win at West Bromwich Albion which saw Spurs climb to within two points of second-placed Manchester United – and with a game in hand.

And the striker, who is in his second spell at a club which he first joined in 2004, fully believes that there is enough quality in the squad for them to maintain their lofty position in the table.

"This is the best group of players I've been involved with," he said. "The squad is unbelievable."

"We've got two great teams we can put out. I just think the sky is the limit for Tottenham really."

It was only an injury to Rafael van der Vaart which enabled Defoe to take his place in the side, and he was delighted to have taken his chance to remind boss Harry Redknapp of his abilities with a fine 81st-minute strike which saw him pick up the ball just over half way before storming forward and drilling a low 20-yard shot into the net.

He added: "Sometimes when you haven't played for a while it is difficult in terms of your sharpness, but I felt sharp."

"I've always worked on my finishing from that sort of distance and it comes naturally. When I get in that position I'm confident I'll hit the target and make the goalkeeper work."

"I was delighted to see it go in, and after that I knew we'd go on to win."

Defoe's display earned him the praise of Redknapp, who had no doubt that the England international would make his mark.

The manager said: "Jermain looks sharp and he's been unlucky that Rafa has been playing so well."

"I knew he was ready. He's been desperate for a chance and he took it. I thought some of his play in the second half was fantastic."

Taking his chance: Jermain Defoe scored a vital goal on Saturday

Borough extend winning streak to five matches

HARINGEY BOROUGH extended their winning streak to five matches in all competitions with a 2-1 victory at Biggleswade United in the Spartan Premier Division on Saturday.

Borough produced a lacklustre display as the hosts enjoyed by far the greater share of possession, but they made much better use of the few clear-cut chances they did create.

Charles Douse smashed the visitors into an early lead with their first real attempt on goal after Nick Nicou played the ball back into the danger area when the Biggleswade defence could only half clear a corner.

But they failed to build on this and only a combination of two superb saves from keeper Ryohei Tamai and some poor finishing enabled them to maintain their lead until half-time.

The hosts continued in the ascendancy after the interval and finally secured a deserved equaliser through Jason Darvell.

However, Borough went on to reclaim the advantage from one of their few attacks of note in the second half as Darrell Cox latched on to a long diagonal ball and fired high into the net from just inside the box.

The hosts piled on the pressure in the closing stages in a bid to get back on level terms, but Borough held firm to secure a win which leaves them fourth in the table.
